SUBJECT: SIG Meeting on the Transfer of Strategic Technology,
           August 12

SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS

The SIG convened to approve final terms of reference, hear briefings from participating agencies, and assign new work. Chairman Buckley opened by requesting comments on the revised terms of reference. There being none, the terms of reference were adopted as written. Dr. Bryen then briefed the SIG on the technology transfer programs of Defense. Assistant Director O'Malley briefed on FBI's DECA program.

The chairman tabled for comment a draft discussion paper on the training and organization of Embassy personnel with respect to technology transfer. The CIA representative reported on the TTIC's ongoing project regarding technology transfer [   ] The chairman reported briefly on a joint State-Justice survey of U.S. extradition treaties with high-risk countries. Four treaties had been deemed adequate, five others inadequate, and approximately 20 treaties remain to be examined by the survey.

Defense briefed the SIG on the FORDTIS information system and recommended that it become the basis of a common interagency system for tracking export licensing cases.

In the category of new business, Chairman Buckley introduced the question of visa denials as an element in the program of technology as a means of transfer control. He cited the possible applicability of The Immigration and Nationality Act. The subject is controversial, however, and will require a study before recommendations can be made. FBI, NSA, CIA and Justice volunteered to join the SIG's Special Project Committee to perform the study.
